MOVING PICTURE CO. CONSIDERING UPLAND AS LOCATION FOR A STUDIO

UPLAND'S LOCATION AND SURROUNDINGS IDEAL, SAY PICTURE MEN

MUST HAVE CO-OPERATION

Locating Here Depends on Co-operation of City Council, Merchants and the People in General; 1000 People Employed

It is possible that Upland may be the location of a moving picture studio and men familiar with the business were in town this week and went over the surrounding country to ascertain just what this city offered in the way of a location in which to operate a moving picture company.

Messrs. Webb, Foster and Pressley were the men here to investigate, and after taking in the entire city and surroundings pronounced Upland a most desirable spot, as the only thing found lacking was the ocean and the beach.

Mr. Webb, who is experienced in the business, stated to a News representative that the first thing necessary to find out was whether the people of a city desired such an industry to locate. Another thing is whether or not the city council will allow the use of the streets for the taking of pictures, and still another is whether or not the merchants will co-operate.

In the operation of smaller companies, instead of building a moving picture town, the town in which the company locates is used and it is absolutely necessary that the permission of the city council be had to use the streets, city parks, fire department building, library, city hall, etc. It is also necessary that the merchants give permission for the use of their store fronts and at times the interior is desired. The company expects to pay the merchants for the use of their institutions, and at the same time the 1000 people employed will give considerable in a business way to each merchant through their patronage.

Mr. Pressley stated that people generally had the wrong impression of moving picture people as a whole, believing that they were a tough and a decidedly undesirable lot. Moving picture people are following their particular line of business as a livelihood, and as in every other there are undesirable, which are rapidly being weeded out, and as the business grows, the class of employees is being rapidly bettered.

The location of the company here is to be taken up with the city council at the next meeting and on the decision of the council hinges the coming of the company.

EARLY RAIN FALL GIVES 3.88 INCHES

J. Pluvius arrived September 29th and stayed until October 2, to the extent of 3.88 inches of moisture as taken at the Mitchell residence at Twenty-second street.

This is the first time in several years that rain of the genuine winter variety has arrived in September and remained so continuously on the job.

In many sections roads were badly washed, especially in the Cucamonga section where Turner avenue joins the Foothill Boulevard, there being a large amount of sand washed onto the roadway.

Upland streets escaped injury as did the San Antonio canyon road, but slightly washed even at Hogback.

Raisins and grapes in the Cucamonga section were slightly injured but the loss is not great. Beans in Southern California will probably suffer the greatest injury.

CHANCE FOR BOYS; SAVE "BAD" ACRE, EARN PRIZES

If you have a lively boy at your house, and if you also have an acre of "bad" land, you can bring the boy and the acre together and the youngster has a chance of winning a cash prize in the great national "Land Reclamation Contest" which is about to begin. That is the announcement made recently by Dr. Gilbert E. Bailey, Professor of Geology in the University of Southern California.

"A great deal of the land commonly thought of as waste land is plenty good enough for some kinds of agriculture, if you only know how to go at it to get this land into shape," says Dr. Bailey. "In order to help this movement along, one of the big powder companies has donated cash prizes to the boys in each part of the United States who make the best showing on an acre of land which is now going to waste because of stumps, boulders, crooked streams, swamps, gullies or hardpan. As the contest is carried on separately in each part of the country, a California boy is only competing against other boys on the Pacific coast. The boy may use any method that he pleases in reclaiming his land."

Any boy who wants to enter this contest may write to Dr. Gilbert E. Bailey at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, and receive full information about it. There is no entry fee or other expense connected with entering the contest.

NEW FIRM ENTERS IN BUSINESS HERE

MESSRS. AMES AND FROWN. FELTER TO OPERATE CASH GROCERY

To Occupy Location of Green & Co. in Silcox Building. Free Delivery a New Feature of the Cash Store. Stock All New

The "A. & F." Cash Grocery is the latest addition to the business section of the city of Upland and the new store is to be located at the stand formerly occupied by Green & Co. in the Silcox Building.

Geo. T. Ames for many years employed in the grocery business here and R. W. Frownfelter, who has been conducting a grocery store until recently on Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles, are the proprietors of the "A. & F." and by next Tuesday expect to be open and ready for business.

Messrs. Ames and Frownfelter purchased the fixtures formerly used by Green & Co., but did not buy the stock. A strictly new and fresh stock from every point of view is to be purchased this week and placed on the shelves before next Tuesday and the boys have a very busy few days ahead of them.

Although the "A. & F." will be conducted on a strictly cash basis, an innovation in the conduct of the cash store is to be one of the features of the new business. Patrons will not have to make a pack horse of themselves in order to get the goods home, as a delivery to any part of the city is to be maintained.

FARM TRACTOR IS PUTTING HORSE OUT

Ten thousand visitors is a conservative estimate of the attendance at the Southern California farm tractor demonstration held at Puente during the past week. The attendance was composed of interested farmers and horticulturists from over the state large numbers being present from the San Joaquin and Imperial Valleys.

Practically every make of farm tractor sold on the Pacific coast was exhibited and demonstrated, in addition to which there was a fine display of farm implements and accessories.

The day's show for each of the five days started at 8 o'clock, and from then until 12 o'clock private demonstrations were given by each tractor concern. From 1 o'clock to 3 o'clock the general demonstration was held, with all the tractors lined up on parallel lines in their respective fields, and starting work at the same time.

This is only the second year of the Southern California demonstration, but the event has already become a classic in a great and rapidly growing field of human endeavor. The world has already passed the threshold of a change to mechanical power in agriculture. The plow has developed successfully from the crude stick to the wooden plow, the iron plow, and finally to steel—from the single tool handled by the power of one man's muscle to the gang plow, and finally to a combination of iron and steel that cuts a dozen furrows at once. The power that tills the soil has been shifted from man to brute, and now the farmer everywhere is learning to use the tractor.

Herbert J. Webber, director of the State Citrus Experiment Station at Riverside, who was present at Puente, said: "This is a great tractor demonstration this week and is undoubtedly the most notable event in the agricultural world. Never before has there been so many tractors in actual operation at one time, the number being far in excess of even the great international motor contests at Winnipeg, Manitoba, or even chelles, in France. This demonstration can hardly be said to have that diversity of interests that marks the contests in France, for under the conditions there is little encouragement for the appearance of such a variety of types as are seen here. The American farm tractor has become practically standard in so far as the method of attaching the plows or cultivating implements is concerned. The direct traction method prevails. This, however, is the greatest demonstration of practical machines that I have ever seen."

The Russian who coined the expression, "You cannot sew buttons on your neighbor's mouth," probably lived next to a young lady who was "taking voice."

SOCIETY SEES DAME FASHION IN PARADE AT UPLAND'S FIRST STYLE EXHIBIT

MERCHANTS ENTERTAIN WITH DELIGHTFUL EVENING

DRAPER PRESSLEY PLEASES

Status of Upland's Business Houses Ably Portrayed in Display of Fall and Winter Fashions by Charming Models

Portraying more vividly than any other method known to mankind, Upland merchants placed before the people of the city their ability to supply not only wearing apparel for women, but fashion with all its latest conceptions, at the first annual fashion show at the Colonial Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week.

J. J. Atwood Company, Campbell's Ready-to-Wear Shop and the Gerry Hat Shop were the business houses making the presentation and were assisted not only by living models from Upland's fairest daughters, but by Mr. Charles E. Pressley, decorator and draper for the Mutual Film Company, and Miss Loris Melford, motion picture star, serving as Mr. Pressley's model.

Material used in decoration of the stage was from the J. J. Atwood Co. stock.

Accompanied by music the models crossed the stage. The first to appear was Miss Marjorie Reynolds, gowned in a stunning black and white suit with a white plush hat. She carried a swaggar cane.

Miss Lillian Sondraker appeared in a handsome green broadcloth trimmed in wide velvet bands. Her hat was black trimmed in green.

Miss Lillian Harnish wore a stylish dove-colored costume, and a royal purple hat trimmed in gold ribbon. Miss Daphne Tuttle, a chic blue broadcloth trimmed in brown fur with a black and white velvet hat to match.

Miss Hazel Wright wore a fine looking green gaberdine with a black hat trimmed with green.

Miss Viola Manker a modish blue broadcloth trimmed with brown fur and a black and white hat. All these charming models wore shoes and furs in harmony with the costume.

After this Mr. Whitmoyer gave the audience the pleasure of seeing Dustin Farnum in "Davy Crockett." Again the lovely models appeared in evening attire.

Miss Reynolds wore a charming blue taffeta, trimmed with silver lace and tulle.

The gown of ivory satin and lace trimmed in brilliant worn by Miss Sondraker was a creation from J. J. Atwood Co.

Miss Harnish's dainty yellow gown of taffeta and white net was most effective.

Miss Tuttle looked very pretty in a pink taffeta and white net.

Miss Wright wore a lovely old rose taffeta and silver lace.

Miss Manker a dainty pale green frock of simple lines.

Evening coats of handsome black velvet were worn to good advantage by the fair models. Automobile coats of various designs and textures were also shown. All were furnished by Mr. Campbell's Ready-to-Wear Shop.

One of the many interesting features of the evening was the remarkable draping of Miss Melford by Mr. Pressley, both of the Mutual Film Co. of Los Angeles. First they showed them on the screen and then in real life.

An afternoon dress of green plaid pussy willow taffeta in which he draped eight yards of uncut material was shown with Miss Melford as the model. Following this she wore a dress of lavender taffeta under black lace. Hoops of three-inch wide white fur gave the gown a unique touch of originality. The material was furnished by J. J. Atwood Company.

All of the hats worn by the young ladies were from the Gerry Hat Shop. Miss Elizabeth McQuillen assisted the young ladies in donning the beautiful gowns.

AN ESSAY ON MEN
A little girl wrote the following composition on men:
"Men are what women marry. They drink and smoke and swear, but don't go to church. Perhaps if they were bunnies they would. They are more logical than women, they are more zoological. Both men and women sprang from monkeys, but the women sprang farther."

U. S. FARM LOAN PLAN TO BE TRIED

FARM LOAN CREDIT GREAT ADVANTAGE TO FARMERS OF THE UNITED STATES

If You Are Desirous of Taking Advantage of This Opportunity Let Mr. Tonnieson Know About It and He Will Do the Rest

There are no doubt many ranchers in this community desirous of taking advantage of the farm loan credit as outlined by the government, and as no one person knows who the other person is who desires to take advantage of this opportunity, the Chamber of Commerce will act as a clearing house for those wishing to list their names. When a sufficient number of names have been obtained a meeting can be arranged by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce for organization.

"THE DAUGHTER OF THE DON" COLONIAL

Fresh from its remarkably successful five weeks' run at the Majestic theatre in Los Angeles, during which it made for itself the reputation of the season's blazest and strongest attraction, "The Daughter of the Don" is to be shown at the Colonial next Tuesday, Oct. 10th.

"The Daughter of the Don" is a ten-reel photodrama based upon the exciting and romantic events of the early history of California, "when the Gringos came."

With the stirring happenings of those picturesque and eventful days—all shown with absolute historical accuracy—the producers have interwoven the story of the charming romance of one of the Spanish belles of early Los Angeles, "The Daughter of the Don," and a young lieutenant of the American navy.

Beginning with a depiction of the care-free and pleasure-loving life of the early Californians, the pictureization treats of the intrigues that preceded the outbreak of hostilities, the recruiting of Mexicans under the banners of Pio Pico and Flores, the arrival of Fremont and Kearney following their long overland marches, and of Stockton after his sea journey round the Horn; the battles in and about the old city of Los Angeles, the deciding conflict at the San Gabriel ford and the surrender in the old stockade on Fort Hill where the Stars and Stripes are triumphantly thrown to the breeze.

The entire production is very unusual, both in the story and in the manner in which it has been filmed. With its stirring scenes of fighting have been combined many beautiful and striking touches and effects. Night photography—always a difficult matter—has been employed with splendid results.

Its absolute fidelity to actual historical events gives the production an undoubted educational value in addition to its splendid entertainment. Seeing it is equivalent to a great deal of study of the history of the period with which it deals.

A splendid orchestra under the able direction of Fred Wilding will play the unusually beautiful musical accompaniment arranged by the producers for the picture, which was so favorably received and commented upon during the Los Angeles engagement.

The matinee showing will not be started until 3:15 to enable school children to conveniently attend and thus give an invaluable lesson in California's history. A special low price for all school pupils has also been arranged for at the matinee.

The one-night showing is to be started at 8:00. Reserved seats for the evening are now on sale at the Upland Pharmacy and the Colonial and selling so rapidly that a capacity business seems certain.

AUTO AND ELECTRIC TRAIN IN COLLISION

Unless Complications Develop, Recovery of Mr. Schowalter Is Assured. Water from Train's Storage Tank Wets Passengers

Driving north on Euclid avenue during a heavy downpour of rain at 11:40 Monday morning, Paul Schowalter, in his Ford and accompanied by his father, J. L. Schowalter, skidded into the forward car of a Pacific Electric train on the San Bernardino line, seriously injuring Mr. Schowalter, Sr., and damaging the automobile to a considerable extent.

As the Schowalter car approached the crossing of the Pacific Electric, a Los Angeles train was pulling into the Euclid avenue station and with an almost superhuman effort Mr. Schowalter applied the brakes and steered his car to the left in order to avoid the collision. Had the street been dry the collision might have been avoided but with the pavement wet the car skidded into the train, not only injuring Mr. Schowalter, but turning on a faucet to the water tank of the electric train and thus throwing water over the passengers waiting to board the train.

Mr. Schowalter was taken from the automobile, unconscious and a physician called and it was found that he had received a decided bump on the head, as well as breaking one or two ribs and puncturing one lung. At first his recovery was believed doubtful, but thus far the patient is surprising even the most optimistic. Mr. Schowalter is 65 years old and an extensive grower of citrus fruits.

Paul Schowalter who was driving the automobile was not injured.

EXPRESS DELIVERY COVERS NEW ZONE

Effective October 2nd, W. E. Allen of the Upland Transfer entered into a contract with the Wells Fargo Express Company for the delivery and collection of express shipments, and the free zone of delivery now extends from Park street, just south of the Santa Fe, to Tenth street on the north, and from Campus to Euclid.

There will be two deliveries in the business section each day, with one delivery in the free zone outside the business section. Delivery of express to any part of the city will also be made by Mr. Allen, a charge being made according to distance outside the free zone.

When you have express for shipment call the Upland Transfer at phone 124.

UNIVERSITIES CO-OPERATE IN SUMMER SCHOOL WORK

The University of Southern California, at Los Angeles, and the University of California, at Berkeley, will co-operate next year in their summer sessions, to the advantage of both schools, according to an announcement made last week by President G. F. Bovard of the University of Southern California and Dr. Walter M. Hart, dean of the summer session at the Berkeley Institution. The outstanding feature of this new co-operative plan is the exchange of faculty members. Several of the strongest men from the University of California will come to Los Angeles for the summer to deliver lectures in the session of the University of Southern California; while some of the men from the big Los Angeles Institution will go north for the same period.

An arrangement will also be perfected whereby prominent eastern educators who come to the Pacific coast to give lectures at the University of California will appear several times in popular addresses before the student body of the University of Southern California.

Recognizing the growing importance of Los Angeles as an educational center, the University of Southern California is making plans whereby the citizens of Los Angeles will have an opportunity to enjoy the advantages of the summer session. Next year the university will offer a series of popular addresses on subjects of general interest, which will be open to the public at large.

It might be observed that when politics makes strange bed fellows, there isn't much sleeping.

ELIMINATE EDWARDS ELECT HARBISON IS SENTIMENT THROUGHOUT 11TH DISTRICT

SUPPORT WITHDRAWN FROM HOME CANDIDATE BECAUSE OF CONDITIONS

REAL ISSUES CONSIDERED

If Edwards Gets Many Votes It Means That Kettner Will Go to Congress. Republicans and and Prohibitionists to Unite

With the announcement that J. S. Edwards, third party prohibition candidate for congress, has no possible chance and that votes for him are indirectly votes for William Kettner, the Democratic candidate, the Redlands Review, of Edwards' home city, withdraws its primary support of Edwards and appeals for Redlands to back Robert C. Harbison, Republican nominee.

The stand of the Review that its "home-town" pride in the campaign of one of its well known citizens could only result in indirect support for Kettner, is regarded as marking the collapse of the Edwards success for non-partisan votes.

The fight, the Review announces, is between Harbison and Kettner, with Harbison, "a protective tariff authority" and a "dry advocate," and Kettner already regarded as having voted for the cut in tariff on citrus fruits and against the national dry issue.

The Review uses most kind statements to gently put Edwards to one side. The announcement of the newspaper, which is a power in Redlands, contains a practical statement of the situation. The Redlands Review, under the name of "The Review," has already announced the people of the citrus fruit community must support Harbison.

Following is the statement of the Review:

The Congressional Situation

"With only six weeks of the campaign remaining before the election November 7, every contest is settled so far as the local voters are concerned, except that for congress. California's electoral vote will go to Hughes and Fairbanks, and Governor Johnson will be elected United States senator. Under normal conditions there would be no question of R. C. Harbison's election to congress, but the situation is unusual. Mr. Harbison must meet the opposition not only of Congressman Kettner, seeking re-election as a Democrat, but also of J. S. Edwards of Redlands, the Prohibition candidate for whom the Prohibition party has concentrated its organization and funds in this district.

"Previous to the primary Mr. Edwards was encouraged to seek the

MONTHLY REPORT OF CITY LIBRARIAN

The librarian's monthly report shows quite a falling off in circulation owing largely to the opening of schools, the children getting most of their books at the school library, and the mothers busy sewing and getting the children properly started. The furnace has been awakened from its summer sleep and is now doing afternoon and evening duty, making the library the warmest place in town.

The circulation for the month of September shows a total of 1480, 868 being of the county free library. Magazines circulated, 63; pamphlets, 2; books added to the city library, 26; making a total of 2568. Fifty books were added to the county library the past month and 35 returned. About ten special requests were received from the state library at Sacramento.

Members registered, 31; withdrawn, 12; total 1435.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1916

THE marriage of Charles A. Gordon, of Colorado Springs, at the age of 94, is noted with pleasure. The gentleman had been married five times previously, and doubtless knew whether the experience would be desirable, and it also goes to prove that once in a while there is a woman who prefers to marry a man with one leg in the grave that she might pull on the other. It would seem, however, that there would be much more satisfaction in becoming a fifth husband for if your better half should throw her arms about your neck and exclaim, "My dear, you're the best husband I ever had," her statement would be proven by her experience.

IN a paid advertisement of a liquor dealer in a contemporary it is stated quite ostentatiously that "in 1915 the liquor licenses issued by cities, towns and counties in California amounted to $4,406,674." That certainly looks impressively large. It is large, but the Record can more than offset it by facts from a single city. In San Francisco more than 3,000 saloons exist. The annual rent, servitors and other expenses of maintenance, without paying for a single drop of whisky, beer, or wine, costs over $10,000,000 a year. It cannot be paid without patronage. Who pays for it, if not those who buy intoxicants at the bar? Thus a single city absorbs more than double the entire amount received in the state for licenses, merely to keep the saloons for a single city, without paying a cent for the liquor. Figure it out yourself. It is a business proposition. Next.—Stockton Record.

HELP! HELP! The Upland News printed a news story last week to the effect that an Upland woman had taken a shot at a chicken thief, but before doing so she fell over a box into a tub of water. The story also stated that the lady weighed 250 pounds. Although The News printed the account on Thursday it took only until Sunday for a new edition of the first version of the event, the Sunday account stating that the lady fell over a box that was on the balcony of the second story of the house and that she fell from the balcony into a tub of water that was on the ground below, and it never hurt her. Her weight had also increased to 300 pounds. If there is honor among newspaper men we beseech you to stop building on that foundation, for a woman weighing three hundred pounds can't fall into a tub of water from the second story of a house and remain alive to tell about it. It "cawn't be done, ye know!"

DID YOU happen to know, Mr. and Mrs. Reader that Upland has a Boy Scout organization which is accomplishing things? Under the leadership of Rev. R. C. Stone of the Presbyterian church the boys are accomplishing much both for the town and for themselves and parents throughout the city are beginning to realize the value of such an organization.

"An idle boy is the devil's workshop," is an old saying but a decidedly true one, especially in this age when business and social life operate at such a high tension that few parents have time to be companions with their boys. The Boy Scouts organization keeps the boys interested and busy along the right lines and under the leadership of Rev. Stone their ambitions will be guided along right lines. Recently a band was organized and Director Wilding of the Upland band offered his services free of charge to assist in the good work. There are today thirty members of that band, and surprising progress is made in the instruction. Each of the boys has an instrument and some of the little chaps have not enough money to pay for them, although many of them are working hard to save enough money to complete their payments. Business men about the city have been assisting in paying for these instruments, and each citizen is now given an opportunity, as Friday evening W. A. Fiske of Chaffey Union High School is to give a lecture at the Presbyterian church on "New England in Literature." The proceeds go to assist in the purchase of these band instruments and for the expense of the general conduct of the organization.

IHAVE said that the last administration, but for the shortness of its tenure, would have recognized Huerta. It would have been done so because Huerta was the only authority exercising power to maintain law and order and to protect American rights in Mexico, and because he manifested a purpose to do so. We had nothing to do with his character, if he was de facto head of the only government there was. We had no right to sit in judgment upon his guilt or innocence as to Madero's death. But if there was doubt of his power to maintain himself, it was not necessary to recognize him. We could merely have waited to see whether his power would be confirmed. This is the course Mr. Everts as secretary of state in Mr. Hayes' administration pursued with Diaz. He waited a year. We might have done the same thing. Had we recognized Huerta or had we recognized no one, we should not have been responsible for any result. As it was, we made it our policy to do everything possible to drive Huerta out of power, and we waged war upon him at Vera Cruz at a cost of valuable American lives and hundreds of Mexican lives. We succeeded. We drove Huerta out of power and then we became responsible for Mexican anarchy. We became responsible for Villa; we became responsible for Carranza. We have recognized Carranza when his power in Mexico is far less confirmed than was Huerta's and after a record of murder and anarchy by his forces that equals anything Mexico has suffered from Villa. We have incurred the enmity of the Mexican people. We have brought on ourselves the invasion of the criminal bandit and murderer Villa by a course that even that outlaw has much ground for claiming to be lacking in good faith. After the Columbus raid, we sent a punitive expedition to capture Villa and having punished many of his followers, we allowed our troops to remain in Mexico, though all hope of capturing Villa had passed. Because the administration did not have the moral courage to meet political criticism and withdraw our troops, they were exposed to the slaughter at Carrizal by Carranza's troops. And after all this, we are parleying with Carranza by commission.—From an article by ex-President Taft on "The Democratic Record," in the October Yale Review.

SHORT-TIME LOANS Size of Loan and Purpose for Which Employed Have Direct Bearing Upon Rate of Interest

Every farmer before borrowing money should ask himself certain questions, according to Bulletin No. 409, Factors Affecting Interest Rates and Other Charges on Short-Time Farm Loans, recently published by the department. Very often the farmer who does not ask himself these questions may find that the banker will require answers before he makes the loan.

"As the importance of promoting and encouraging improved systems of farming becomes increasingly apparent," to quote the bulletin, "attention will be directed more and more toward such questions as the purpose and size of farm loans. How are the proceeds of a proposed farm loan to be employed? Are they to be expended for a productive purpose, such as would lead to improvement in the farming business? Is the size of the loan well adapted to the purpose in view? Does the period for which the loan is to run conform to the time the capital is actually needed? All of these questions have a direct bearing on the costs of short-time farm loans.

Purpose of the Loan
"The use of any given loan ought to yield a return sufficient at least to repay both interest and principal. If the returns are not sufficient for this purpose, then the money should not be borrowed. The only way in which the use of credit can be directed so as to serve the interests of improved agriculture is to control the extension of loans so that they may be used for productive purposes only. This means, at the same time, a safer use of credit.

"In some localities banks offer loans to farmers at reduced rates of interest when the money borrowed is used for some specific and approved purpose, such as the purchase of live stock, the building of silos, or the making of other improvements which will make farming more profitable under the given conditions.

Size of the Loan
"The banker usually charges a higher rate of interest on a small loan than on a large one. The clerical and bookkeeping expenses are the same in both cases. Unless a higher rate were charged on small loans, the point would be reached where the expenses connected with such loans would be greater than the interest. On the other hand, if pays the banker to handle large loans at a lower rate of interest.

"The importance of restricting loans to those approved for productive purposes and of having the size of the loan conform to the requirements of sound farm investment has been recognized by some bankers to such an extent that they employ advisers who discuss such questions with their farmer patrons in order to promote the interests of their farm-loan business. This plan has been followed by banks in the Central West, in New England, and in the South. The plan of one of the southern banks may be taken as an example. The agricultural adviser employed by this bank, after a conference with the prospective borrower, decides whether the proposed loan is businesslike and expedient. If the purpose of the loan meets his approval he works out a plan of procedure with the farmer. The farmer may consider that he needs a loan of $1,000. As a result of his conference with the adviser it may be found that $700 is sufficient. They discuss the safety of the proposed investment, the additional equipment necessary, and, in case live stock is to be purchased, the crop rotation that will furnish the most economical supply of feed. These items are all arranged and agreed upon before the bank makes the loan. After the loan has been made and the capital

CONTROL OF SCALE; THE BEST METHODS

By Burr R. Jones

In treating scale scientifically, investigators, the best and most successful growers, and the horticultural commissioners are pretty well agreed as to the best methods. In the first place, the scale insects in the younger stages of their growth, are not very difficult to kill, though when they near maturity and the shell becomes hard and adheres closely to the tree, successful treatment is much more difficult. We treat the black scale during the autumn and early winter months because it is the time when we can find them nearly all in the stage of growth which is most susceptible to treatment, and then several preparations in the form of sprays as well as fumigation will kill them if the active agent reaches the scale insect.

In the case of all young trees up to two or three years of age which are still quite open and with comparatively little foliage on them, any careful man can apply a spray which will not injure the tree, but which will still be effective to make an excellent killing of the scale; but as citrus trees grow older, they never lose their leaves to an appreciable extent, and no one with any ordinary appliance ever sprayed a thick citrus tree so that all parts of every leaf and every twig or other part of the tree was reached by the spray. This is the weak point of spraying. In other words, it is impossible to make on any tree, such as above noted, an application of spray which will reach all of the scale.

On the other hand, the poisonous gas generated in fumigation does surround and infest every part of the tree, and the only problem is to make the gas the right strength to kill the insects without injury to the tree and to keep it about the tree a sufficient time to produce the desired results.

In either case, the thoroughness, care and knowledge with which the work is done is a very important element in its efficiency; but a thoroughly efficient man can make fumigation very much more uniformly effective without injury to the tree than a man can do with sprays, speaking, of course, of citrus trees with full, dense foliage.

As to the expense, good fumigation will cost somewhat less than double the expense of a thorough spray, and one fumigation is more efficient in making a clean, healthy, productive orchard than two sprays can be.

Spraying was persistently pushed for several years with very discouraging results until fumigation was perfected and adopted, and the little Australian ladybird got in its work on the white scale.

There have been attempts in greater or less extent to return to the old spraying methods, but I believe that within three years every man who has made these attempts has returned to fumigation.

MONEY FOR FRUIT PROBE

For enlarging of fruit-disease investigation congress has appropriated $7500. Orchard diseases and diseases of subtropical fruits will receive special attention.

INFORMATION FOR GROWERS

The government continues to aid its orchardists and vegetable growers. The latest is an appropriation of $136,000 for "collecting and distributing by telegraph, mail and otherwise timely information on the supply, commercial movement, disposition and market prices of fruits and vegetables."

Invested it is the duty of the adviser to visit the farm from time to time to see if the plan adopted is adhered to and if the investment is yielding proper results. Such a plan means added protection to both the farmer and the banker."

TEST OF RITTMAN PROCESS GASOLINE SHOWS WORTH

Interest of oil men in the Santa Paula section centers in the El Merito oil refinery, where the new Rittman process of developing gasoline from crude oil is being tried out.

The refinery is putting out the new grade of gasoline right along at present, and a recent exhaustive test was made by the men interested in the project.

A gallon of the product was put in a Ford roadster, the gas tank and carburetor of which had been cleaned out. The car ran 20.2 miles, in and around Santa Paula, including several hill roads. A. T. Ward, owner of the car, said the only difference he noticed was that the car cranked easier on this gasoline than it usually did, and that the mileage was the same as he had been getting.

APPLYING THE RULE

"Look, mother," said little Bobby, proudly exhibiting a hatful of marbles, "I won all these from Billy Smith."

"Why, Bobby," exclaimed his mother, "don't you know it's wrong to play marbles for keeps? Go right over to Willie's house and give Willie back his marbles."

"Yes, mother," said Bobby obediently, "and shall I take back that vase you won at his mother's whist party, and give it back to her?"

Why does the baby that talks so plainly to its mother always refuse to be interviewed by strangers?

Dry Voters

Take Notice

Mr. Harbison, the Republican candidate for Congress, announces that his campaign fight is not to be waged against Mr. Kettner, the Democrat, who voted in Congress against the only dry measure that came up, but that the big guns are to be directed against Mr. Edwards, who was nominated by the Progressives, and who was in the field five weeks before Mr. Harbison was nominated.

How Dry

is Mr. Harbison, Mr. Dry Voter, when he suavely announces his intentions of working solely to elect the dry voter? When, in nine cases out of ten, his newspaper, the San Bernardino Sun, supported wet men, tried to defeat dry men, advocated the election of men who would nullify dry laws? When he supported Kettner, a Democrat, for Congress and knifed the dry candidate of his own party, S. C. Evans? When for many years recently he has received money from

Saloons and Breweries

by printing liquor advertisements from a few inches to a half page for Beer, Wine, Whiskey and other Liquors?

How Dry

is Mr. Harbison, when his paper said the Redlands W. C. T. U. were supporting the same two wet men he was, Pine and Van Wie, when the contrary was the truth and he knew it, but refused to make the correction though offered pay to have the misrepresentation corrected in a paid ad? When he was against the dry fight being made in 1914, and also against the dry fight being made in 1916, declaring it cannot win? Editorial Nov. 19, 1914.

How Dry

is Mr. Harbison, who says in his paper August 27th, that prohibition is not a tenet of his party, and he hopes it will not become such? When he goes into the unlegal San Diego convention, agreeing to support the candidate of that convention, though wet?

Can Mr. Harbison be called dry at all? Mr. Kettner voted against the only dry measure, the Hobson amendment, that came up in Congress.

Mr. Edwards circulated a petition against the saloons in Redlands nearly 30 years ago, and established a newspaper, the Redlands Facts, 26 years ago, in which no liquor ads were accepted, and used it to fight the saloons, so that for 25 years there have been in Redlands, and has worked every year for 35 years for prohibition.

These facts make it clear that nominated by the Prohibitionists and endorsed by the Progressives of the Eleventh District is the

THE MODEL YOUNG MAN

Recently the Los Angeles police were looking for a person described as a "model young man" who had had the mischance to disappear from the haunts it had been his wont to sanctify. It was said of him that he never used tobacco, liquor or profanity, that he never was out of nights, and that he would not so much as look at a girl.

The success of the police in finding him is not recorded. Probably they failed. There could be no real incentive for finding such a mollycoddle, while the temptation to lose him would be strong. It is a wonder his admirers did not think of the possibility that he had gone up in a chariot of fire.

MUSIC SEASON TO OPEN NEXT MONTH IN LOS ANGELES

For the forthcoming musical season Manager L. E. Behymer begs to call attention to the fact that instead of the usual six concerts on the Philharmonic courses, there will be seven internationally famous stars on each series, the prices of admission to remain the same as last year.

Also that the season ticket sale to subscribers is now on at Trinity box office.

Inasmuch as Mr. Ignace Paderewski, the distinguished Polish pianist, will formally inaugurate the season—although he is not on the Philharmonic course—patrons purchasing season tickets may make their reservations for this world-famous artist's concert scheduled for Tuesday evening, Oct. 3d, at the same time they purchase the season ticket, thus avoiding the rush which will ensue when the single ticket sale is opened some time later, and avoiding returning to the box office again.

The artists scheduled for the first series of the Philharmonic course will be Mischa Elman, the popular Russian violinist, Oct. 17th, followed by Florence Macbeth, American coloratura soprano, Oct. 31st; John McCormack, the well beloved tenor, Nov. 14th; Julia Culp, lieder singer, Jan. 23; Yvette Guilbert, the famous French interpreter of the songs of the people of France, and who has so perfectly combined the arts of music and drama for presentation on the concert stage, will be heard for the first time in this city on this series, Jan. 30th. At the moment it has not been decided whether Fritz Kreisler, the violinist, or the Danrosch Symphony Orchestra, with Erem Zimbalist as soloist, will close the series. Either will be most acceptable. The pianist for the series will be Josef Hofman, March 13.

When one recalls his seasonally successful appearances last spring as soloist with the Danrosch orchestra, the announcement of his return in an entire recital program will be most welcome.

Second Series

The concerts of the second series will fall on Thursday evenings throughout the year. John McCormack, on Nov. 15th, will open the series, followed by that delightful composer-pianist, Percy Grainger, who was the sensation of the eastern musical season last year; Mme. Melba, always a favorite here, will be heard Jan. 4th; Louis Gravelle, the Belgian baritone, whose voice and art make his services sought after by all the first rank organizations of the country, on Jan. 11th will also make his debut in Los Angeles. The Flonzaley Quartet, chamber music experts, Feb. 22d, followed by a joint recital of the gifted American violinist, Albert Spalding, and the eminent Swiss pianist, Rudolph Ganz, Apr. 5 with Elena Gerhardt, one of the authorities in lieder singing of the generation, will complete a course the superior of which it would be difficult to imagine.

Matinee Series

For the benefit of the matinee goers and the host of out-of-town patrons of music, an equally well-balanced series has been arranged, opening Nov. 11th with Leopold Godowsky, pianist. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, easily the best loved of the women singers, Dec. 9th; Julia Culp, Jan. 27; Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, with Richard Czerwinsky, violin soloist, Feb. 3d; Charles Wakefield Cadman, American composer-pianist, in joint recital with the Indian soprano, Princess Tsianina, Feb. 10th; Josef Hofman, pianist, March 17th, and Fritz Kreisler, March 31st, make a particularly well balanced series.

Surprise for Popular Couple—

In honor of Miss Maude Gerry and Mr. J. Lynward Grahame, whose wedding takes place the twelfth of October, the members of the choir of the Presbyterian church planned a surprise on them and most successfully carried it out. Miss Helen Wiechmann invited the choir, of which Mr. Grahame is leader, to have the regular weekly practice at her home on Twenty-fourth street, as she never had had them at her home. The invitation was accepted joyfully, and not until six solid silver salad forks were presented the couple did they have an inkling that this choir practice was anything out of the ordinary. Games and delicious refreshments of French pastry and brick ice cream followed the usual practice. Those who helped carry out this happy surprise were Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Lemon, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Trunkfield, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Beattie, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fischer, Mrs. O. E. Atwood, Mrs. Frampton of Claremont, Mrs. Agnes Jacobs, Miss Elizabeth and Louise Jones, Miss Marie Greenleaf, Miss Bertha Palmer, Miss Irma Thomas, Miss Janet Stone, Miss Viola Manker, Miss Lillian Sondraaker, Miss Helene Wiechmann, and Messrs. Fred Williams, Raymond Moremen, J. L. Grahame.

Merry Wives—

Very delightful was the afternoon spent by the members of the Merry Wives Embroidery club as guests of Mrs. Arthur H. Johnson on Third avenue. A few guests also shared the hospitality of the hostess. A two-course luncheon was served late in the afternoon, four tables having been placed in the dining room and were very dainty in their greenery and white. Escalloped chicken, bread and butter sandwiches, olives and celery were followed by cream puffs and coffee, very prettily served by the daughters of the hostess.

The ladies who enjoyed the afternoon were Mrs. W. L. Brown, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. D. D. Crew, Mrs. W. B. Duncan, Mrs. C. K. Francisco, Mrs. George Gregg, Mrs. Perry O. Long, Mrs. N. G. Pehl, Mrs. Evert B. Reynolds, Mrs. W. C. Reynolds, Mrs. C. M. Sikes.

Edith Cavell Sewing Circle—

The sewing circle in connection with Edith Cavell Chapter, Imperial Order of the Daughters of the British Empire, is to meet Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Current Events Club.

For Miss St. Amand—

Complimenting Miss Hazel St. Amand, who recently went to Los Angeles to make her home and who was the guest for several days of Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Hill, Miss Eva Gerry and Miss Mildred Ware entertained with a dinner party of charming appointments one evening recently at the Ware home in North Euclid avenue.

Pink carnations and ferns made an effective table decoration and dinner was served at 7 o'clock.

Covers were arranged for Miss St. Amand, Mr. and Mrs. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierce Fuller, Phil Damon, Harold C. Moore, Ralph Ware, Cecil G. Ware, Everett H. Fuller, Miss Eva Gerry and Miss Mildred Ware.

Shower for Miss Gerry—

Miss Maude Gerry was the honoree at a china shower given by Mrs. Owen Atwood Wednesday afternoon. Pink and white was the color scheme carried out in the decorations and in the two-course luncheon served. Bouquets of cosmos were used most effectively about the rooms. The time was put in busily hemming napkins and dustcloths and making holders for the bride-to-be. A beautiful set of white and gold china was given to Miss Gerry by the guests of the afternoon. Those who did honor to Miss Gerry were Mrs. R. B. Bordwell, Mrs. H. O. Blohm, Mrs. Earl Maurer, Mrs. George Hall, Mrs. R. C. Norton, Mrs. Thos. Nisbet and her house guests, her mother and sister, Mrs. McHenry and Mrs. Jones, Mrs. N. G. Pehl, Mrs. Eldon Atwood, Mrs. Ernest Mehl, Mrs. Fred Froehde, Mrs. A. C. Beattie, Mrs. Jerome H. Titus, Mrs. John Craig, Mrs. Tracey Morris, Mrs. Grace Paulin and Mrs. Grace Mancha of Los Angeles, Miss Mildred Ware, Miss Eva Gerry.

Early Halloween Party—

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Norton and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Manker were "at home" Wednesday evening to the teachers and a few others at the Manker home on Second avenue. As it was the month of witches and hobgoblins, the house was decorated plentifully with them and with jack-o'-lanterns. The guests were met at the door by a witch who led them by devious dark ways to the dressing room. After removing their raps, a letter of the alphabet was pinned to the back of each. Progressive carroms were played, six tables being used, Mr. Thos. Nisbet receiving the highest score, the prize being a jack-o'-lantern tie pin. Miss Halliwell received the consolation, a dunce cap. Humorous fortunes were dished out of a black kettle hung from a tripod, and read out loud by the recipient. Pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee were served. Just before the guests departed Mr. Norton and Mr. Manker distributed (candy) kisses. Those who helped the hosts and hostesses enjoy the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Nisbet, Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Troeller, Mrs. M. E. Hill, Mrs. Carrie May, Mrs. Nellie A. Miles, Miss Fannie Noe, Miss Griggs, Miss Ella Halliwell, Miss Elsie Lhuillier, Miss Margaret Jap, Miss Ida Caldwell, Miss Elsie Adame, Miss Bertha Watson, Miss Harriet Riley, Miss Gladys Riley, Miss Ruth Riley, Miss Mary Harmon, Miss Irma Coleman, Miss Edith Hitchcock, Miss Lela McClelland, Miss Iva Dell Murphy, E. C. Harwood.

Twentieth Wedding Anniversary—

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Williams celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary Monday evening at their home on East Ninth street and Campus avenue. A social time was enjoyed during the evening, after which refreshments were served. The guests were Rev. Larkin and mother, of Ontario, Lloyd G. Bumstead and wife, J. H. Rupp and wife, John Rupp, Jr., Misses Naoma, Vera and Lucile Rupp, Ralph Williams and wife, W. H. Rupp, wife and daughter, Maybelle, Wm. Trunkfield and wife, Frederick and Miss Dorothy Trunkfield, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Williams and son Carl, Miss Clara Williams and Fred Williams of Porterville.

Republican as well as the Prohibition nomination. It was felt that the opposition to Congressman Kettner should be united. It was not possible to secure the withdrawal from the race of either Mr. Harbison or Mr. Edwards. Facing this situation it was deemed advantageous that Mr. Edwards be given opportunity to measure his strength in the Republican party with that of Mr. Harbison. His showing was one in which his fellow citizens can take pride, but he did not receive the nomination. In fact, Mr. Harbison's vote in the primary was 12,963 and that of Mr. Edwards 6739, almost a two to one vote. Mr. Harbison's total vote in the primary was 13,032 and that of Mr. Edwards 8814. Mr. Kettner received 7227, Mr. Hinkle 3948, Mr. Crouch 1473 and Mr. Robbins 798.

"These figures are in every way favorable to Mr. Harbison and encouraging to his candidacy. He showed greater strength in the Republican primary than Messrs. Edwards, Hinkle and Kettner combined, the latter receiving 627 Republican votes. Republican friends of Messrs. Hinkle and Edwards should and we believe will largely accept the result and support Mr. Harbison in November.

"The situation should be met squarely. Congressman Kettner should be defeated. A great majority of the people of the district will agree on this. His record on Prohibition shows an utter lack of sympathy with the expressed will of the people he has represented. He has failed to get his own party to give necessary protection to the citrus and other industries of his district. Certainly he cannot be expected to secure from the Republican party that which he could not secure from his own party. There is every reason to believe that the coming administration will be Republican. For the eleventh district to send back as a member of a Republican congress, Mr. Kettner, a Democrat, would be folly. Not only would he be at a disadvantage as a member of the minority party, but the district would receive no recognition from the Republican party.

"The practical thing to do is to send to congress a Republican. Mr. Harbison should be elected. He is a 'dry advocate,' a protective tariff authority, a man in every way qualified to serve the district efficiently. There is no reason why Republicans should support Mr. Kettner directly. Likewise there is no reason why they should support him indirectly, by voting for Mr. Edwards.

"Loyal support of Republicans will easily elect Mr. Harbison. The Republican registration in the eleventh district is 49,044. The Democratic registration is 18,500, the Prohibition registration 2812, socialist registration 2954, and non-stated 27,499. This shows the Republican registration exceeds that of all other parties combined.

"Opponents of Congressman Kettner have only to stand together and he will be defeated. Either Mr. Harbison or Mr. Edwards would make able congressmen. The sensible thing is to take the strongest candidate and unite in his support. Mr. Harbison has shown in the primary that he is the strongest candidate in the field. The thing to do is to unite on him."

FOREST NOTES

An automobile with car wheels is used for fire fighting purposes on the mountain railroads by the rangers in the Sierra national forest.

Investigations made by the Forest Service of the wooden piling in wharves about San Francisco bay have disclosed the fact that the damage done this season by the destructive pile borer, teredo, is apparently much less than usual.

Artificial silk manufactured from wood pulp for which several kinds of California timber are suitable is used annually in this country to the amount of seven billion pounds. It is utilized principally in the manufacture of millinery, sweaters and hosiery.

The Forest Service in California is co-operating with the University of California in the study of mill waste in the redwood belt that might be used in the manufacture of grain alcohol.

In co-operation with California lumber companies, the Forest Service is making a study of the depreciation in lumber due to sap stain, shrinkage, checking, warping, splitting and breaking in the seasoning process.

In Southern California electric companies and the Forest Service are co-operating in testing out zinc chloride, creosote, crude oil, and their combinations of preservatives for poles.

The relative durability of California commercial timber is being experimented upon at the Forest Service laboratory, Madison, Wisconsin, in rotting pits. These pits, constructed of cement, are kept in a condition of temperature and humidity most favorable for the development of wood destroying fungi, of which cultures are introduced.

A man who trusts no one doesn't know what real disappointment is.

If we could only live on the advice that others give us, the high cost of living would lose its sting.

I presume all my readers have been interested in the "Federal Farm Loan Act."

I notice in the Washington dispatches that 100,000 inquiries had been sent to the Federal Farm Loan Board from persons living in cities and towns, concerning this act. This from people desiring to get back to the land. There are thousands of farmers who would be rejoiced to start the landless farmer, and in better shape, perhaps, than could obtain from the federal board—and give them a better chance to make good.

True enough, it is the intent of the Act to develop farms, but remember, there is more or less red tape in getting started than by the assistance of the large land owner. If you want to get a small farm and start on a small, safe scale, I will be glad to assist you in getting good land well located.

The court gave the plaintiff opportunity to amend the complaint, but announced that the demurrer would be sustained. It was also announced that the case would then be appealed to the district court of appeals with the supreme court eventually to hear the case.

They talked apple show, they flaunted to the breeze banners which carried the apple emblems and they asked that Upland co-operate and help make the show a big success.

NOVEL ATTRACTION
A very novel attraction is to be presented at the Colonial tonight (Thursday) and Friday, when L. F. Klein's original mechanical reproduction of the sinking of the Titanic is to be shown as a special attraction with the Paramount picture program.

The spectacle is a very well known one, having appeared over the entire Orpheum and Pantages circuits, and will undoubtedly prove very pleasing.

It is not a motion picture but a mechanical and scenic illusion, necessitating the use of over 200 miniature ships and figures and much stage paraphernalia.

METHODIST NEWS FOR COMING WEEK'S EVENTS

Mr. Wentworth speaks Sunday morning at 11 a. m. on "The Year's Outlook." This is the subject that was to have been given last Sunday but it is reserved for October 8th.

At night the theme will be, "The Masculine Master." Did he have these elements? If so to what extent. Does the modern world need His Masculinity?

Special music by the orchestra and chorus at night.

Rally Day Next Sunday
The rally day services will be held next Sunday due to the rain last Sunday. The program will be fine. All are requested to be on hand promptly at 9:45.

Special music and interesting numbers will occupy the hour. Remember the time 9:45 with Mr. Hartley in charge.

Epworth League 6:30
A fine time is in store for the young people next Sunday night at 6:30. All young men and women are urged to come.

The Year's Work Ahead
Mr. Wentworth will specifically speak of the work to be accomplished the coming year in his sermon Sunday morning. Every member should be there for the morning hour as the scope and possibilities of the membership will be clearly outlined. Some things ought to be done, and we are sure can be done by the loyal folks of the church and community this year. Let every member be present.

The Mennonite
Those who braved the storm last Sunday morning, found ample elbow room in the Sunday school classes. Neither was there any crowding in the church service that followed. Slippery roads kept most of the country folks from venturing out with their autos. The Junior C. E. in the afternoon was omitted. In the evening the Intermediate met with the Senior Society and they had a good time together. There was good singing and a tolerably well represented bible topic program led by H. H. Reimer. Lingered for a few social moments after the close was pleasantly indulged by the young substitute janitor for the evening.

An eager rallying to all the services is looked forward to on the coming Sunday. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. German preaching service at 10:45. English service at 7:30 p. m.

BETTER DESTROY TIMBER

The Forest Service has recently completed four years' work in the eradication of the timber destroying beetle Dendroctonus on the Trinity national forest, according to a report made public today. In the course of the campaign thousands of beetle-infested trees were cut down and burned in an area of 24,000 acres of virgin yellow and sugar pine in the Hayfork country. Crews of from ten to thirty expert woodsmen under the direction of forest officers were employed to do this work.

The campaign has resulted in reducing the annual loss of timber from beetles in this region from 2000 trees to less than 100 for this season.

The beetle Dendroctonus has been at work in the forests of California for many years, and it is stated on good authority that evidence points to much greater losses before the coming of the white man than at present. Some idea of the damage done is disclosed in that the loss in one district alone for the past 20 years has been estimated at 1,500,000 feet, valued at present stump prices at more than three-quarters of a million dollars.

The only known way of combating the beetles is to cut and burn the infested trees. A forest fire which does not destroy the mature infested tree has little effect upon the Dendroctonus. The insects' habit of boring deeply beneath the bark into the sapwood affords it protection from the ordinary forest fire.

Prayer that is long drawn out is apt to be narrow.

SCALE INSECTS; CONTROL METHODS

By Burr R. Jones
Chief Deputy Horticultural Commissioner Los Angeles County

At this season of the year a great deal of speculation is involved in and thought given to the problem of controlling the various scale insects which infest so many of our citrus and other trees and many plants throughout Southern California, and notwithstanding we have been fighting the scale for so many years with greater or less success, according to the means employed and the thoroughness of its application, there is still some diversity of opinion and consequently of statement regarding the best means to be employed for this purpose, and a person, one in particular who has had little experience in the work, is often completely at a loss to know just what to do for the best care of his plant and tree growth.

New Remedies Exploited
In addition to the conditions which have prevailed for many years, we seem to have had an especially puzzling problem during the past two or three years. In the first place, many parties have begun the mixing and advertising of various proprietary preparations of secret formulas and processes of manufacture which they say are better than standard insecticides already in use, although many of them have stood the test of many years' use. These commercial men are sending their agents through the infested districts, making very extravagant claims in some cases, and it is not a matter of surprise that some people are led to expect much better results from the use of their mixtures than is warranted by the facts.

Some of these people have evolved a new theory that the scale, instead of feeding upon the sap of the trees, lives upon a fungus which grows upon them, and every spray which contains a fungicide by destroying this fungus deprives the scale of its food and it starves to death. This theory, of course, would appeal only to the man who has not given the matter careful investigation and is very doubtful of conclusions obtained by scientific men who have thoroughly investigated it, as it is well established that none of our important scale insects obtain their substance from the fungus growing upon a tree.

Use of Fungus Cultures
Within the last two or three years, however, certain parties have been industriously advocating and applying wherever they were allowed to do so certain alleged fungus cultures which they claimed would start a fungus disease in, on or about the black scale insects which would prove fatal to them, claiming thus to save the growth from injury and save the owner the expense of more well-tried treatments. However, this year this theory has been pretty well exploded, and I know of very few, if any, cases in which fungus treatment will be arranged for for the coming year.

While we know that a fungus growth of this kind is naturally present in some citrus districts, which does help materially in the control of the scale, we have never known of a case where this fungus was propagated and introduced in new districts with any degree of certainty or with effects that could be depended upon to control the scale. In these conclusions we are fully sustained by the best authorities on the staff connected with our state university and its experiment stations.

Insects May Be Immunes
Another condition of the scale which has manifested itself within the last two or three years has added to the confusion of ideas in regard to its treatment. In portions of Riverside and Los Angeles counties the best modes of treatment have seemed to be inefficient to a certain extent, and the citrus experiment station of the university has decided after a thorough investigation that there is a strong possibility that a strain of the insects has gradually developed that is immune to the treatments. In Riverside this tendency has been shown by red scale, while in Los Angeles it has been the black. Of course in treating the scale some of them are not so easily affected as others. These might escape the fatal effects of the treatment and their progeny would be more or less likely to inherit this tendency of the parent, and a strain or line of breeding would be established which would have this characteristic. This, of course, is only a theory and may be disproved at any time, or, on the other hand, evidence of its correctness may be developed; but we do know that in some sections the best approved treatment does not seem to be as efficient as in former years.

SOUTH CAROLINA
South Carolina threatens to elect Cole Blaise governor again. It would be difficult to have a whole commonwealth brought before a commission in lunacy, but in the case of South Carolina it ought to be done.

CREDITABLE TO THE DUKE
The duke of Brunswick has gone so frankly crazy that he has been shut up. More dangerous are the lunatics of Europe who still make a bluff at being sane.

The Quality Store

Why This Community Should Participate in National Pay-Up Week

OUR COUNTRY has been doing a mighty foreign business. Millions upon millions of dollars are pouring into this country and certain sections are unusually prosperous, and Pomona Valley is fast becoming one of these favored sections. In all this prosperity the business interest of this community, and every other community, have a right to participate. It is because we realize that this prosperity can be passed around that we have endorsed National Pay-Up Week and joined with other fellow business associates in an endeavor to make it a success.

This community, like every other community, has thousands of dollars tied up in book accounts. There is money here to pay a large part of these accounts. The thing to do is to get these dollars into circulation; get the dollars rolling and a liberal participation in National Pay-Up by the entire community will solve the problem.

We are going to aid in this prosperity movement not only by paying our bills, but by selling the kind of clothes that will make you look prosperous and feel prosperous. We are going to sell suits and overcoats during this week at less than their real value, thus enabling you to apply the savings made on an obligation that you might have.

A purchase of a twenty-five dollar suit or overcoat in Booth-Vaughn's "Home of Good Clothes" during National Pay-Up Week can pay fifty dollars worth of debts.

On a $25.00 suit or overcoat purchase during National Pay-Up Week you save $2.50. But putting this $2.50 into circulation with instructions to keep it moving paying accounts, by the end of the week there will be $50.00 or more in accounts paid as a direct result of your suit or overcoat purchase. Somewhere back in Ohio, during National Pay-Up Week last year, a five-dollar bill paid something like $295 in accounts. The thing to do is to keep the dollars rolling. Simple enough, is it not? Now that we understand the situation, let's get busy. Who wants the first suit or overcoat? Who wants the next one? Let's get the dollars rolling.

You will find our present display of Men's and Boys' wearables up to our usual high standard. While there has been a considerable advance in all lines, by our system of merchandising the advance in most instances is scarcely perceptible. One thing you can depend upon—we will not reduce our standard to meet a price, everything we sell this season will carry our regular unlimited guarantee of absolute satisfaction.

Cucamonga South Side

Miss Agnes Fox spent the week-end at her home in Pomona.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Krysto, Jr., of Pomona, were Sunday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lucas.

Misses Mildred and Dorothy Vandervort left Friday evening to visit over Sunday at their Covina home.

J. Spenneta of Orange is visiting friends on the south side.

Oscar Smith is here from Rochester, N. Y., looking after his grape interests on Eighth street.

Mrs. Robert Hilberg, who has been ill for so long with inflammatory rheumatism at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Canup on Eighth street, and who was reported slowly improving, has suffered a relapse, due, no doubt to weather conditions.

Harold Caldwell, Santa Fe night operator at Upland, an old Cucamongan, is taking a special commercial course at the Chaffey High morning session, which line of study he expects to assist him in his future career.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Miller returned Friday night from San Diego, where they spent three days taking in the fair and surrounding pleasure jaunts with Los Angeles friends, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Giles, Mr. and Mrs. Will Hawes, Mrs. Hall and daughter, Miss Hall, of New Brunswick.

Henry Whitson arrived home Saturday night from a five-day hunting and fishing trip in the wilds of Big Bear Valley, making the trip by motor with Mr. H. Pratt, of Pomona, who has a cottage on Big Bear Lake.

The equinoctial storm, a week late, struck us with a vengeance, hanging on like a bull pup for three days, and although of vast benefit to the thirsty citrus groves and gardens in general, we regret it seems to be a case of "what is one man's meat is another's poison." The raisin grapes, still drying, are more or less damaged, just to what extent is not known at present, while some fears are expressed that the wine grapes may split and spoil. The bean growers also bid fair to suffer heavily.

John Whitson, who had many acres in black-eyed beans, was fortunate indeed to have harvested all but ten acres, and if the sun shines forth in time, he will undoubtedly save the balance of the crop.

Mr. and Mrs. David Bell, motorist through from Anaheim to their new home in Riverside, were guests Saturday of Miss Nellie Ray. Mr. Bell was formerly with the Gregory company here, going to Anaheim for the past season, and is now connected with the L. V. W. Brown interests at the Riverside groves to pack their fruit the ensuing season.

Mr. Bell reports that never has he seen orange trees so heavily set as the Brown groves this year, all due, he declares, to heavy fertilization. To get results, fertilize, and then some. We fertilize our groves here in Cucamonga, but it seems, as compared with some of these fancy fruit groves near Riverside, we are simply not "in the game." We should play our trumps—fertilize—and then some, to be a winner! So we are told.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur De Berard, who have been living the past summer at the F. W. Whitney place in Ontario, while the family were on their eastern trip, are expected to make their home now at the W. H. De Berard rancho on Archibald avenue and Sixth street. "Welcome to our city."

Owing to the inclement weather last Sabbath, attendance was light at the Union Mission, although a goodly number turned out for the evening service, the pastor, Rev. Chafe, preaching from the 55th chapter of Isaiah, "Come ye to the waters and drink." Next Sabbath, the series of sermons on the prophecies of Daniel now coming to pass, will be continued. Everyone should heed the call. Come and worship with us.

Surprise Party

On last Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. R. McKennett and son, Roland, of Turner avenue, planned a very pleasant surprise on Miss Dorothy Vandervort, who while a teacher at the Guasti school, is making her home with them. The occasion was the young lady's birthday and the affair was a complete surprise to the fair honoree. Games and music were the order of the evening and delicious refreshments of punch, cakes and fruit were served. Those participating in the enjoyment of the evening were Mrs. Geo. F. Coffman, Misses Marjory Burr, Ethel McCorkindale, Agnes Fox, Mildred Vandervort, Thelma and Grace Markham, Maud Garrard, Bessie Stipe, the honoree, Miss Dorothy Vandervort, Messrs. Homer Stipe, Isalah Field, Nelson Van Fleet, Roland McKennett, and the host and hostess.

Mrs. Mary Homans was very pleasantly surprised Tuesday evening of last week, when a party of friends dropped in unexpectedly at the home of her brother, W. H. De Berard on Archibald avenue, the party being in the nature of a "farewell." Mrs. Homans leaving the next day for her future home in Kansas. Music and dainty refreshments contributed toward a very enjoyable evening, the guests presenting the honoree with a handsome pin, a token of their regard and best wishes for a safe journey. Those present were, Mr.

Mr. R. E. Gilbert met with quite a serious accident Monday afternoon on the highway between Cucamonga and San Bernardino. A large machine either skidded or was carelessly driven and ran into the Ford which Mr. Gilbert was driving. The machine was turned turtle and Mr. Gilbert pinned underneath. The driver of the other machine will never know what damage he did as he didn't stop to inquire. For a couple of hours Mr. Gilbert lay pinned underneath the machine unable to call for help. Finally a passing machine picked him up and brought him home. It is not known yet just how badly Mr. Gilbert is injured but his injuries are not serious though he is suffering considerably. The Ford is absolutely scrap now, a complete wreck.

Earl Ledig went to Los Angeles Monday afternoon on the train and returned late the same night driving his new roadster.

Miss Pearl Ledig and Earl Ledig are running a new Chevrolet roadster to school.

The Parents-Teachers' association held an important meeting at the Central school house Thursday afternoon for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. By way of entertainment the Sixth and the Eighth grades sang a number of delightful selections.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Worthington entertained a party at dinner Sunday evening. Places were laid for Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gribbling, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gilbert, Mrs. Summers, Miss Lucile Gilbert, Miss Frances Hov, Raymond Gilbert and Joe Reise.

Joe Reise who is attending Pomona college was home Sunday.

Miss Willette Long will forget her school teaching this week end and spend Saturday and Sunday with her mother, Mrs. M. A. Long, in Los Angeles.

Mrs. J. H. Culbertson and daughter, Marie, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McKee, Mrs. Culbertson's parents, in Alta Loma.

George Keyes, Jr., spent Sunday in Cucamonga, returning to Pasadena Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. L. A. Weller entertained a few friends Tuesday night in honor of Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Shedd, sisters of Mrs. W. H. Horst, who are visiting here from Philadelphia. Mrs. Weller took her guests first to the Fashion Show held at the Colonial Theatre and after the show they motored to Mrs. Weller's home where a few hands of bridge were played and refreshments were served.

Roy and Paul Chafe motored to San Bernardino Saturday to view in awe and admiration the splendors and wonders of the Barnum & Bailey circus.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Davenport spent the week end with college friends of Mr. Davenport at Glendora. A number of festivities were given in their honor while there, including a dance Saturday night.

Miss Gertrude Evans, the popular clerk and bookkeeper at the Williams-Lucas store, has returned from an extended vacation, which was spent with friends at Long Beach.

Mrs. Harry Karr and mother, Mrs. Wilson, attended the Barnum & Bailey circus at San Bernardino Saturday afternoon. The weather did its best to spoil the fun of the circus goers but for all its disagreeable behavior a great many people were under the big tent.

Mr. Alfred Davenport is the proud owner of a new automobile, the real thing and not a Ford.

W. A. Lucas motored to Los Angeles on Wednesday, on business connected with the Dodge Brothers car. Mr. Lucas also attended an agents' banquet at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Mr. Arthur Gilbert spent Sunday at his home here from San Bernardino where he is employed in the Union Oil company's office.

and Mrs. Oscar Beebe of Upland, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur De Berard and Miss Laura Mayhew of Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Whitney and Mr. and Mrs. Crowell of Cucamonga.

An Ontario company of sprayers with their spraying machine visited the orange groves of James Sharp, John Whitson and E. S. Bishop last week. The spraying process, using a single preparation of Mermald soap powder, mixed with lime and sulphur, cleans up the trees wonderfully and appears to successfully kill all the scale and smother the eggs, the powerful spray penetrating every leaf and branch of the tree. This method is being used extensively and with great success in and around the Rialto district, and this year spraying companies are kept busy in and around Upland and Ontario. It is predicted that spraying will take the place in the future of the costly and unsatisfactory system of fumigating with the tents, especially in view of the fact that it looks now like growers would be compelled to spray or fumigate every year in order to keep their citrus trees free from the different scale pests, just as the peach and apricot trees have to be sprayed annually.

Do you earn a living you don't get—or do you get a living you don't earn?

The storm on Friday caught some of our best weather prophets unprepared. The rain damage is greater than is usual in Etiwanda for several reasons. The Friday weather report sent out was "cloudy today, fair tomorrow." The result was no stacking on Friday morning. In the afternoon when everyone wanted to stack there was a shortage of men to do the work. In some fields the men worked till dark to get things snug, but in other fields thousands of trays were left spread on the ground. The muscat table grapes are quite badly hurt, but the late dark grapes are undamaged. The rainfall was about 3½ inches, which breaks the record for this season.

The circus did not draw its usual quota of patrons Saturday on account of the prevalent rain. Among those who braved the elements were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scott and the children and Bruce Rader, Mrs. Neece and the children, Rev. Greenlee and the children, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Smith and the children.

L. H. Tilden has just received word of the birth of a grandson, who arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Tilden of Grand Junction, Colorado on September 27. Mr. and Mrs. Tilden visited Etiwanda last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Fetrow entertained guests on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hornell of Imperial Valley and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor of Pomona made up the party. Mr. and Mrs. Hornell formerly lived in Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Smith, who have been spending several weeks with Mrs. Emanuel Smith, have gone on to Los Angeles, where they expect to make their future home. They come from Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Rich Shepherd are visiting home folks for the week. Mr. Shepherd is having a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis of Artesia are visiting at the J. C. Jones home this week.

Miss Katherine Jones was at home for the week-end.

Rowe Rader was operated on Saturday for the removal of her tonsils. She is making a rapid recovery and expects to be in school again next week.

M. M. Werner of Alden, Kansas, arrived on Thursday for an extended visit at the home of his son, A. A. Werner. Several of the former Kansas here are former friends of Mr. Werner.

Morris Frost, who fell from his bicycle last week and cut his chin, was sufficiently recovered on Monday to have the stitches removed. On the afternoon of the same day he fell again, with the result that his chin is again adorned with a row of stitches.

Miss Dot Grabler of Ontario was a week-end guest at the Jack Scott home. She accompanied them to the circus on Saturday and returned home on Sunday.

Adam Scharz was seriously hurt on Monday morning by a kick from a horse. The blow struck him in the face with such force that it was feared for a time that he had suffered a fractured skull. Dr. Webber came at once and a nurse was left in charge. He is reported to be slightly better today.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stevens will leave on Saturday for a trip by auto to Arizona. They will visit Mr. Stevens' father at Maricopa, Arizona, and will go on to Phoenix, where Mr. Stevens is to be employed this winter.

R. R. Henderson is in Prescott, Arizona, where he expects to work for a mining company. His brother, Alex Henderson, and his nephew are with him.

The Ladies' Aid Society is meeting at the church this afternoon. Plans are being made for the missionary luncheon to be given next week.

Sunday School Executive Board Meeting

Who wouldn't like to be an officer in the Etiwanda Sunday school? On Friday evening they assembled in the school basement for dinner. The feast planned by the ladies was delicious—meat loaf, creamed potatoes, hot rolls, jelly, pickles, doughnuts and coffee. The contest in giving between Mrs. Troyer's and Mrs. Scott's classes resulted in a balance of $9 above expenses in the treasury for the quarter. It was voted to buy three dozen Bibles with the surplus.

A letter was read from Mrs. Herick, district superintendent, asking that a speaker be appointed to present the work of the Sunday school at the home missionary meeting in Riverside on October 17. Mrs. Gertrude S. Rader was appointed. Rev. Greenlee, Mrs. Burbank, Mrs. Tilden, Mrs. Troyer were named as delegates to the meeting.

About thirty officers and teachers were present. They reported that the Sunday school has given $26.51 for missions this year. About $20 more will be given when the birthday box is opened.

School Folks Honored

Mrs. A. C. Smith, whose parties are always delightful affairs, entertained charmingly on Thursday in honor of the teachers. The geography room at the school house was bright with roses and ivy, and by 8 o'clock it was filled to overflowing with the members of the Good Times club, who were the guests. Miss Majers and Miss Watson, who are new to Etiwanda, enjoyed the novelty of attending a party where the invitation was an announcement chalked up on the bulletin board at the store instead of the customary small notes.

The hostess' daughter, Isabel, entertained with two piano numbers, and Miss Watson, who is a delightful reader, gave several selections. A catchy illustrated song contest employed part of the time, and refreshments of ices and wafers were served. The honorees were Mrs. T. M. Neece, Miss Irene Majers, Miss Mildred Benson and Miss Mabel Watson.

Dinner and Dance at Pearson Home

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. William Pearson was the scene of a most enjoyable party on Tuesday evening. The occasion was a dinner and an informal dance given in honor of guests from Los Angeles, Messrs. William and Joe Griffith and their sister, Miss Mary Griffith. Dinner was a feast of good things, including fried and roast chicken, salad, pumpkin pie, cream puffs and other good things from cellar and garden. Music followed, both instrumental and vocal selections of English, German and Norwegian songs being given by the guests. Later the floor of the big living room was cleared and old-time dances were indulged in until twelve o'clock, when supper concluded the festivities.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ingvaldsen, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stevens, Messrs. William and Joseph Griffith, Miss Mary Griffith, Andrew Ingvaldsen, Victor Johnson, Frances and Arline Stevens.

"JUNE DROP" FUNGUS

The mysterious cause of "June drop" of navel oranges is now believed by the University of California to have been found. This excessive shedding of young fruit has caused much concern to citrus growers in the interior valleys of California. That a fungus of the genus Alternaria is the cause is the theory advanced in the September issue of the University of California Journal of Agriculture by J. Elliot Coit, professor of citriculture, and R. W. Hodgson, a graduate of this year of the college of agriculture.

The infection occurs in the blossom end. It is more serious in the interior districts than in coast regions because in regions of heat and low humidity the extreme transpiration of moisture by the foliage brings about a daily reversal of the sap current, which sucks the poison produced by the fungus back through the joint in the stem, causing it to weaken and break.

It is now suspected that this same fungus is responsible for a considerable proportion of the "spills" occurring in the interior valleys.

The university is now carrying on experiments in the hope of finding a means of controlling the "June drop" through prevention and control of the infection of navel oranges by the Alternaria fungus.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES

"Why do you think your sister is fond of me, Willie?" asked the young man in the parlor.

"Cause she gave me a dime to set the clock an hour slow this evening," explained the little fellow.
